A Clergy Boundaries Workshop
for American Baptist Clergy
Serving in the Central Region

August 17-18, 2010

Cross Wind Conference Center
Hesston, KS

For the well being and integrity of all those in ministerial leadership and the congregations they serve, the American Baptist Churches of the Central Region and the Region Council on the Ministry (RCOM) strongly recommend that all persons holding recognized ecclesiastical standing or pastoral / ministerial leadership roles periodically receive training in clergy boundary awareness issues.

Clergy Boundaries Workshop

What are the rules and expectations for how ministerial leaders conduct themselves in the everyday practice of fulfilling their pastoral and church leadership roles? Here are some answers. The goals of this workshop are to:

- ❖ Increase awareness of the need for healthy boundaries in the clergy-congregant relationship
- ❖ Provide clergy with guidelines for appropriate boundaries and self-care
- ❖ Illustrate strategies to sustain a safe, healthy church
- ❖ Define boundaries and why they are important

This workshop will help clergy be aware of the power dynamics in pastoral relationships, provide a safe place to raise questions about appropriate responses, heighten awareness of boundary issues in congregations and educate about safety practices.
